Andrea Pallavera is since 2020 a qualified Associate Actuary at the Institute and Faculty of Actuaries of London (IFoA) and has been working at ROLAND Rechtsschutz-Versicherungs-AG Cologne since October 2019. With his experience as Actuary and Data Scientist, Andrea is responsible for developing sustainable pricing models which reflect market dynamics and risk factors.

In 2013, after an internship at the European Commission, Andrea successfully completed the M.Sc. in Economics and Social Sciences at Bocconi University of Milan. Following the graduation Andrea started working as Market Analyst in his native country in Milan and in 2015 moved to Germany to begin his career in the insurance industry as actuary at ARAG SE. Since October 2019 he moved on to ROLAND Rechtsschutz.
